Hey guys,

Check this out:

<https://github.com/maxieds/ChameleonMiniLiveDebugger/issues/26#issuecomment-1722385007>

As I drafted the post, I have angry neighbors above me slamming things on the floor. I stopped breathing in Casper with Kush last year. I lost all the family (human and cat) I loved over nothing but unnecessary hate in this country. I view everything like I'm already living on borrowed time. Most recent threats inclusive, I am willing to die over this, including my rights to speak freely about my experiences with the far right.

Love y'all, Uncle Kevin. We're (the cats; Kushy has the map) going to Orion's belt then home far away to ANON-9. You're welcome to come along.

Free Kevin, Fuck Trump,

Dr. Maxie Dion Schmidt

This is on the side of my fridge (blurry photo attached). These are important to me. I'm going to adopt another cat when I get a job again.

Fuck Trump. And Fuck these right wing babbling loonies. These men living above me called in a bomb threat on Thursday to the local Chicago Public Library to keep me from having access to a private room to call lawyers. I'm getting lawyers, definitely, no doubt about that eventuality. These men are of the Slashdot archetype that cannot tell the difference between fantasy and reality – the Xbox fps game ends and they are still living the game. Is this the TED talk reference to the metaverse (web 3.0)?

I really loathe the types of people that behave like they can take advantage of humans because they are not acquainted with the customs by which they (the psychos) run around in droves hunting their lives. This include Lucky225 (Boulder, CO not CA and high school affiliation instead of his PhD teaching at UIUC) and the rest of Jason's asswok brothers that accosted me in Atlanta after CPAC of 2021 (cf. March 16, 2021) armed in police uniforms. Musk is surprisingly informative in the latest AI conference coverage from NPR by saying there will be substantial human rights issues with the technology. Whereas, Zuckerberg tells Congress to legislate with due penalties while accepting the reality of what his profit margins are based on. Same as Google profiting on analytics data from safari victims who do not even own, nor have access to, the data about themselves. Interesting that I have to request access to the files stored on Drive for an account I have created on the dark web iPad tablet Kevin was familiar with – ask whom? My MDM 'owner' of the hardware I purchased with my hard earned money in Bogota?

God is on Earth. Her favorite cat is with her. I understand Jason can take good friends and family with us as his black kittens. Kevin communicated over the summer that he is grateful – anything to get out of Hell! Kevin cat, stop rubbing up against the phone jack port on our spaceship; not until we get out of the Galaxy. NO! The classic chewy Starwars ship helped get Kushy onto the red carpet if Heaven where she's waiting for me to come pick her up -- and, you know what that means -- our plan for a long time, we're going together. Whenever that happens...

I've gotten used to people (even contacts I have known for years) not bothering to reply to things that obviously require intelligent, thoughtful input. It's really very antisocial behavior as a pattern. Both of my parents were PhD social psychologists. This analysis is native to me, but objectionable to those that will prey on or violate others at essentially their convenience -- not a nice, polite way to label their default modes -- hence, their bitching and complaining about the accurate description of the behavior. I started concluding that people that do this are in the conspiracy -- i.e., the enemy in the sense of my GitHub post from above. You learn to pick them out quickly. My parents were murdered in premeditated cold blood. It is precisely what it is modulo lies and bullshit.

I have a therapist that says he believes me (really? My lawyers are going to have to depose like five members of the US Congress to verify, yes, they were there, and no, their existence is real as well, and not a figment of my cast imagination), but many will choose to see my life experience and my interpretations thereof as 'in my head'. Just like Sam Kamin laughing at me (inappropriate satanic dismissal of things as triviality -- but, life is NOT a game, indeed) on a bus last month in Chicago without any followup contact nor email response confronted directly. There is a recent (on Spotify) episode of the Refuse Fascism podcast talking about roles of traditional authorities if law and civilization after a significant fascist coup (like Trump and January 6, 2021). Everything we are conditioned to expect as watchdogs falls apart. This is the second civil war reference from the GitHub post.

I am writing myself a reminder to send you all copies of emails with logs from South America (Albuquerque) showing who was watching me there texting with Liz Cheney as a result of the second to last GitHub post (Lindsay Graham, Elon Musk, Mark Zuckerberg, Warren Buffet and many other disturbing usernames). These morons screwed up by letting me post that and not hiding access to that data on the phone. They are no more sophisticated than script kiddies who know what name of the software to install after physically breaking into my house, not how it works, much less having written the source from scratch. Typical of the attitude -- men, violent predators. Also, an email from Cinda Herren saying to get a therapist and wait two years to talk about Jason's sex life recently (he has been deaf for nearly 20 years), effectively after the pending plot to murder me was complete. This similarly coincides with Jason Zych's LinkedIn profile getting updated to contain actual substance -- thanks Lucky, asshole, and yes, of course I would know the difference, and no I'm still consistently unimpressed with the trite, tired lines of bullshit (to Trump on Juneteenth: it's the bullshit that makes us kill you like that. Everything else has been seen before in human history. We know what you do. The distinguishing factor is the bullshit. It's really all about the BULLSHIT!). Lenny Pitt came in person to my final defense at GT. He's on video I have on YouTube. He had the satanic blue contact lens eyes after passing the presentation formality and saying oddly, 'Good luck at Sandia'. They know what they did -- every way about it. This country is fucked. The laws sadly are written by abusers for abusers. Every university I have attended is like that. The difference for this batch of fuck ups is that these people get caught... That will piss them off, definitely, and make them repeat uncreative schemes to deny and dismiss any repercussions for their actions -- from their head cases until mine, and predictably. Illinois civil court should be interesting this time. I'm game to make a big point over the list of my family. My family aren't coming back regardless of the monetary penalty to these guilty assholes.

I started this response (rant) to write a detail I forgot in the last message. Kushy's ghost was sitting in my lap on the plane in Pensacola into UNICEF custody in Atlanta (really, Uranus, family Joseph's airport). The flight was bizarre with white sunglasses, in-flight entertainment and sun chips references. When that part of the trip kicked in (going through the center of the sun), I was crying and told the flight attendant I didn't want to digest anything because I might have inadvertently have had to eat my deceased family. Kush ended up getting dropped off where we will reconnect eventually. I think my mother is with me. Advanced civilizations don't tolerate the shit we have seen recently on this planet (in this solar system; uni-solar systems -- one white way down the middle of the road, as Joe Strummer would have sung, rather than the bi-solar system reciprocity and necessity for balance, give and take, ebb and flow, and other such healthy processes). They don't (didn't) hate me that way. Kind of strange to have normal interactions with total strangers. Hmm.

Okay. Enough. I could polish this. I am writing in an intentionally disorganized style. It's almost like I know what I'm doing.

Fuck you to Emmanuel for the implicit endorsement of this metaverse construct. Loki went into the asshole for three days this summer. Oh, you don't have a horn, by all means, take mine -- more like what Jesus Christ (son of the God I know) would have been like. He had to kill a lot of asses (oh, Kushy Bear, Mama's going to kill some trolls). You aren't getting out. At least you know the terms and conditions before it happens. That makes me better.

Men,

Let me be conversational before getting to the point you will be interested in. Social graces used to be the norm. This was before the world went to Hell. That drop off the cliff would have been Regan and the cocaine influx of the 1980's into American politics to stay. What happened in 1984 that no one left alive with the will to scream would remember? The song 'Fourth of July' by X (The Band, interestingly, now on YouTube) leaves a trace. There are also unexplained references to 1982 and the Hitler-esque Angel/Devil/Shrek color filter on the video for the Atari's 'Boys of Summer's cover. So much seems to have been lost in translation from that scary time period (see below).

There was an hour long special about 'Swing Time for Hitler' on NPR this week. The replays and characterization of Charlie and His Orchestra as repellent is good to know about. You / I would think that with all the Nazi-ism taking hold of America so openly the last decade, references like that and subtle queues about their attitudes and behavioral quirks would have been useful -- at least to college geneds? It explains the Clash song 'Charlie don't surf'. There are samples in the introduction to 'V Thirteen' by Mick Jones and Big Audio Dynamite post-Clash (also, a music video with their black keyboardist's dreadlocks which some unfortunate victims may recognize shortly before being murdered in a death cab manufactured by Tesla, not 503/Jalesco like I nearly was taken by in Casper). The song 'Hell' by the Squirrel Nut Zippers must have slipped under the radar in the 1990's -- it seems appropriate to me, and for fuck's sake, we had finally disposed of the Regan era Republicans in the most recent presidential elections. The NPR news commentary this week made reference to neo-nazi groups like the three percenters (my dad told me I was in the top 1-2% with a PhD).

The distinction between Nazis and white supremacists is thin. It really irks me that we fail to question the Republicans openly in public and in most media programming. Letting them get away with genocide by the technicality of not addressing them by a name that common people all recognize is unacceptable. I really wouldn't care how loud they scream and protest free discussion and dissemination of that important discussion. There is a new line crossing country song by Jason Aldean titled 'Try that in a small town' that is case in point for me given the Yellowstone NASCAR experience and my being targeted for supporting Black Lives Matter in releases of a popular security software project.

There are (were in May) some disgusting imprints of carbonized humans reminiscent of the WWII images in Japan after dropping the first atom bombs found in the Chicago Roosevelt train station (blue or red line subway, right after tunnel with unusual art depicting evolutionary order). Did Trump manage to detonate nuclear weapons on American cities during the week long insurrection? There is talk of near misses of him invoking a 17xx act to deploy the military to American cities in a time of crisis and panic (which, incidentally, would have diverted the 3.3M active duty military available to deploy in DC). News feeds about Musk and Tesla that started appearing on my phone living next to X / Zach in Atlanta reported that his work tunneling underground, in effect to create a driverless circulation of underground caskets by imagery, had failed and so been abandoned as a project by the billionaire.

I have only ever received two notifications from Spotify to tune into a new OTH podcast. The first was over the pandemic where Emmanuel alluded to my forbidden 2600 reject article that Lucky and his khaki pants were so forthcoming to rip off on YouTube. It's Lenny!!! Will allow me to eventually forgive the mother fucker and rehabilitate him into the society where we treat one another with intellectual respect primitives on my head. Weird that I was pinged to listen to an insult about the use of the term 'white hat hacker'. Nb, pretentious characters are a technical term in mathematics these days. The second was for the Cheshire episode last month. The NPR Charlie special made me physically sick with the adoring by default tributes to a man you all barely knew and the Hackers Got Talent performance sing song with 'Holocaust' in the lyrics. He knows he's going to Hell when he does, right? Fucking screwed up asshole! I thought about it. I am a being of pendantic reason before getting opinionated. We know (at least vaguely) what you do. Use the little mother fucker anyway you can. He's never going to be anymore the wiser. The black and white binary option view of nearly any subject matter is total bullshit anyway. I accepted this from my cat when she made a facial expression to communicate 'Oh, you don't like that.' Meaning that there is nothing about the situation that made her err on the side of happy about it. That made good sense to me.

Moving along, I think I saw one of Jason's brothers on the subway today. Or someone from UIUC that was tasked with covering his class circa 2006-2007 anyway. Definitely not the one I got along with so we'll about 15-20 years ago. Different voice. It didn't spook me or weird me out for some reason. He must be human like my dead husband...

Here are the important bits:

The Twitter direct messages that Alex wants to put into court are not the only way they (Trump and his inner circle) would have been coordinating during the insurrection. My inspection suggests that the Fox News app for iOS

(__APPLE_WATCH!!!__) and Droid is very interesting. You can check out some of the archived VERSIONS (and not any more clever about this) on APK Pure. This includes those tagged with Eastern European and Middle Eastern (Arabic) geolocation QR-type barcodes -- me thinks with experience on the darkweb that one of the matrices in the factorization is geo-indeterminate. Terrorist activity and organization with Fox News? I think the speech that recently started getting replayed in the news with Kamala Harris (NOT Joe Biden, who would have been the authority to address the nation at the time, by anyone else's account) starting out something like 'today is September 11th, 2001' speaks volumes.

Go forth. I hope someone engages enough to read their email regularly.

Big, mean, heinous bitch, or Big Bad Maxie, out for the morning. Time to go study for my C++ exam in the usual fashion for application later in the morning. Let Jason II, or Jason N with respect to the Simpsons naming conventions for their cat, bitcheth and moaneth if he pleases. Everyone else can listen to him scream :)
