Emmanuel,

I was poisoned at a subway shop yesterday. It appears to be rat poison. It may have been retaliatory over YouTube community postings election day. I'm getting attacked every way possible including at work over who it was that abused and attacked me.

I still need help finding lawyers. You already know much about my story. Kevin was taking footage at Georgia Tech over the years. There is a documentary effort having met Sean Penn and with the support of many others. I have no legal training and starting from zero with a lawyer cold call is very, very difficult.

NPR is talking about presidential immunity for murdering political opponents. I only expect this to get worse in the coming months. If I end up dead you have my consent and blessing to carry through with the lawsuits. My wish is that the tax deductible part of the money go to Obama's presidential library, helping cats (felines) of domestic violence survivors and the homeless, NPR/WBEZ and OTH/WBAI. Also, make sure my online accounts are preserved (post it note list in Obama documents directory of my infamous GitHub/maxieds/public-file-stashes report and some other stuff on overleaf attached to my outlook email).

Please call me back. I might need federal protection to live my life over this.

Emmanuel,

I appreciate the outro music this week. End of the world followed by Charlie and his Orchestra. Good Germans like great Americans.

Love you guys,

MDS
